Chestnut Burr

Presenting the CHESTNUT BURR for 1940 . . .

In this book, the record of the 1939-40 academic year, the staff of the CHESTNUT BURR has earnestly endeavored to bring to you an accurate picture of a growing university.

Since our campus is in a stage of evolution, we have compiled the pages which follow with a predominant theme of CONSTRUCTION.

On this motif of CONSTRUCTION, then, the BURR intends through its pages to construct a class, a student body, a faculty, and a university. We of the staff hope that you will find your BURR the truest and most sincere recollection possible of the months just passed.

We give you the CHESTNUT BURR for 1940 . . .

DEDICATION

It was our idea to dedicate the 1940 CHESTNUT BURR to a man who has contributed much to the successful growth of Kent State University. We felt that this book should be offered to someone instrumental in the rise of this institution, and to one in whose mind the welfare of the university has always held an important place.

Such a man is John Edward McGilvrey, A.B., Ph.D., and president emeritus of Kent State University.

Arriving in Kent from the Cleveland City Normal School in 1911, Dr. McGilvrey was president until 1926. During those years, he watched and helped the campus grow from what was then almost a wilderness to the site of the progressive university of today. He managed and lent weight to all of the appropriation campaigns for building on the campus, including the new science hall which bears his name. In 1935 Dr. McGilvrey promoted the bill which changed Kent State "College" into Kent State "University".

With cameras clicking and with members of the faculty and several hundred students looking on, Dr. McGilvrey on December 22, 1938, broke first ground for the beginning of construction work on the science hall. Actual proceedings on the million-dollar structure began four months later, on April 4, 1939; the new building is expected to be ready for occupation in time to accommodate fall classes this year. Its four floors will have 47 rooms, including lecture rooms and libraries.

These, then, are the facts which cause us of the BURR staff to feel justified in dedicating this book to the first president of Kent State University.

The university has honored Dr. McGilvrey by naming him president emeritus and by giving his name to the new science hall. We of the BURR staff add to these honors with the dedication of this book.

President KARL CLAYTON LEEBRICK, B.S., M.S., Ph.D.

OUR PRESIDENT . . .

During the two years that Dr. K. C. Leebrick has acted as president of the university, his unassuming friendliness, his keen sense of responsibility, and his sincere interest, not only in Kent itself, but in each student, have made him a popular prexy.

His knowledge of educational problems and his interest in his special field, the Far East, makes him an authority sought after by students and organizations alike.

The task confronting any president of a growing university is one requiring infinite tact and patience. Students and faculty both look to him for advice and as a person to whom they may express their grievances. Moreover, he must be cooperative in his dealings with others. Dr. Leebrick meets all these requirements.

His genial smile is known to all both on and off the campus.

The first annual President's Day, honoring Dr. Leebrick was sponsored on October 23 . . . Dr. Clyde Miller of the Institute of Propaganda Analysis was the principal speaker . . . students had their part, too, with Gordon Hostettler, Woodrow Barkett and Jean Ulmer voicing their appreciation for the youthful chief executive . . . Following the program, students, faculty and friends were "received" by "K. C." in his office.

The administration of a growing university, increasing yearly in number of students, expanding over the campus, and enlarging its teaching staff, demands the constant assistance of the Board of Trustees.

Members of the 1939-40 board are: John R. Williams, superintendent of Lake county schools, president; Joseph B. Hanan, superintendent of mechanical goods division of B. F. Goodrich company, vice-president; Roy H. Smith, president of Lamson-Sessions company, treasurer; Albert V. Dix, publisher and editor, secretary; and Charles H. Lake, superintendent of Cleveland Public schools.

The board meets monthly with President Leebrick to approve appointments and expenditures, and to carry on all other official business. The university is fortunate to have such an efficient, interested Board of Trustees.

Kent State University's seven deans provide the best opportunity the university affords for "personal contact" between the student body and the administration.

Dean Raymond E. Manchester originated the Men's Union, and also the custom of individual birthday greetings to campus men. Dean Mary L. Smallwood, only one year at Kent, is now an indispensable member of the faculty body.

Dean Emeritus O. H. Williams, six years head of the college of liberal arts, retired in September, 1938, to be replaced by Dean Earl W. Crecraft, from the University of Akron. Dean Arden L. Allyn prides himself on the growth of his, the youngest college of the university. Dean John L. Blair and Dean Fren Musselman have worked together for years in building the first college of the university, that of education.

Seven officials, keeping stride with the construction and progress on the campus, do the work behind the scenes to keep the machinery of university administration running smoothly and efficiently.

Business Manager B. F. Renkert and Assistant Treasurer C. K. Anderson work together in the money matters of the university.

Dr. Lester H. Munzenmayer, director of teacher placement, arranges interviews for prospective employers of student teachers, while the instruction and practice teaching at the University Training school is under the direction of Dr. Amos L. Heer. Dr. Heer also represents the university at national educational conventions besides teaching educational classes.

Miss Margaret Dunbar, reigning over the Rockwell library with dignity and precision, still performs the yearly task of acquainting freshmen with studying and making use of the library facilities.

One of the busiest of the officials is Registrar E. C. Stopher, who with the aid of his office assistants, must keep in close touch with all students, record their cuts, their grades, and scores of other facts concerning each of them.

J. W. Dirkson heads campus construction and supervision of grounds.

REGISTRATION

The rush of being first in line to register . . . the disappointment at receiving a 2 o'clock hour card . . . the number of gaping freshmen looking over the upper classmen with awe . . . the gladness of seeing so many of the old gang back . . . the wondering how the activity ticket picture will turn out this year . . . looks of amusement on the faces of upper classmen watching freshmen going through a strenuous physical examination . . . the stray bits of conversation whereby the student tries to convince the professor that he can't have a Saturday class . . . the trek to the Brady that becomes a habit . . . the freshman blue caps dotting the campus, and the garish sweaters of the coeds marring the green of the grounds . . . the scurrying about to buy books . . . the thinking that there must be an increase in the enrollment since the waiting line is getting longer . . . aching feet and legs after standing in line all day . . . the visit to the treasurer's office . . . and the after-registration letdown . . .

First days . . . 2565 remember them this year . . . that figure tops last year's by 155, and the record for '37-'38 by 463 . . . maybe that explains that registration line, the harassed advisors, the hustling students, the dulled pencils, the empty pens . . . and everything that went with registration week last September.

FRESHMEN

Well equipped with sharpened pencils and new notebooks, 1150 new students came to Kent in mid-September for a hectic Freshman week.

As the year advanced they matured under the education of smokers and rush parties, library dates, Brady sitting, and class cutting.

Under the guidance of officers Mickey Dover, president; Peggy Fike, vice-president; Elizabeth Tucker, secretary; and Dick McGinnis, treasurer, the class sponsored freshman assembly, freshman play and the successful "Club '43" dance.

LIFE OF A COED

"C'mon, sister . . . rise and shine!"

. . . oh! oh! . . . get that alarm clock! . . . another new day . . . but about three hours too soon . . .

. . . a hurried coke—maybe . . . hurry up, will you? . . . I've been here for an hour . . .

. . . that run up the walk really wears you down . . . guess I'll catch up on a . . . little . . . sleep . . .

. . . no, I wasn't sleeping, professor . . . just concentrating . . . that was a swell lecture . . . (what I heard of it) . . .

. . . thank heavens! . . . classes over . . . have to hurry for that date . . .

. . . gee, I'm sorry . . . didn't know it was over-due . . . (wonder what it was about) . . .

. . . classes aren't everything in college . . .

"Well . . . I suppose you have to work once in a while"

". . . they say this gets to be a habit . . ."

"Reflections and wishes ..."

"You bet ... cramming for that exam tomorrow ..."

. . . graduating from the "green" class into the "we-know-it-all" class, the Sophomores made names for themselves in dramatics, journalism, legislation, and social activities . . . never has so much of the university activity been so noticeably executed by the students with only one year of college experience behind them . . .

. . . not forsaking their own organization in the process of doing things elsewhere . . . the Sophomores first exhibited their talents in the class-sponsored "Sweater Swagger" . . . Alf Bottomley and orchestra playing in Wills Gym . . . Stan Mouse and Bill Guisewite cutting-up much to the enjoyment of the dancers . . . hailing the day of the dance as "Sweater Day" . . . shag contest drawing many dancers into the limelight . . . chaperones being Dr. and Mrs. John Cuber . . . Dr. and Mrs. Harry Wolfe . . . Dr. and Mrs. Henry Dater . . . Prof. Clarence A. Slocum and guest . . .

. . . second semester came and with it came plans for the spring formal which the Sophs sponsor . . . the Sophomore Hop . . . April 20 . . . part of dance that Sophs liked best was deduction of class dues from admission price . . . Dick Barrie's "catching rhythms" from 10 to 1 . . . in cleverly decorated Wills Gym . . . presentation of Most Popular Man Dick Firth, senior, and Most Popular Woman Jane Rothermund, junior . . . only sore-spot—it came during prep-week . . .

. . . wishing to leave more to Kent State than memories of the Soph activities . . . the class contributed money to the planned construction to be placed in front of the university library . . . a sign, surrounded by shrubbery, boasting that "THIS IS KENT STATE UNIVERSITY".

This year's large Sophomore class, which figures prove to be greatly increased over any previous year, worked congenially and effectively toward making their group outstanding.

Many were taken in by clubs and other organizations, while others joined fraternities and sororities. The staffs of the three campus publications proved what a great percentage of the work was done by the Sophomores.

Active in music, art and other ex-curricular activities, the class proved their versatility in many fields.

FOOTBALL

Three wins, four losses, and one tie tell the story of the 1939 Kent State University football team. Coach G. D. "Rosy" Starn's men started the season with a show of power equal to that of any opponent, but ended the campaign with three straight losses.

Wayne Sidinger, former Western Reserve University athletic star, was appointed line coach, replacing Joe Begala, who became the team's trainer.

Only four members of this year's squad, Don Miller, Louis Cardinal, George Mollica, and Leslie Netzen, will be lost by graduation. During the past year, Dean Winsper copped honors for the best average in yards gained from the line of scrimmage with Joe Mileski, triple-threat man, taking the runner-up spot.

THE SEASON . . .

KSU, 20—LAWRENCE TECH, 6

With Joe Mileski tossing a slippery pigskin around on a wet and treacherous Rockwell field, the Golden Flash gridiron machine opened the season impressively before a large crowd.

KSU, 19—HEIDELBERG, 0

The linemen captured the lime-light when the Flashes broke the Heidelberg jinx by trouncing the Student Princes, 19-0. It was the first win on the local field for Kent over the Princes.

KSU, 6—MOUNT UNION, 6

Mount Union College maintained its record of never having lost a football game to Kent, when they battled the Flashes to a 6-6 tie at Alliance with over 3000 shivering fans watching.

KSU, 7—FINDLAY, 10

An intercepted pass and a 16-yard field goal overcame an early Kent lead and the Findlay Oilers pulled an amazing upset to knock the Flashes from the undefeated class.

KSU, 8—HOBART, 6

Rebounding from a surprise loss to Findlay, the Flashes topped the Hobart College Statesmen in Geneva, N. Y. With the score tied, 6-6, in the last minutes, Kent scored a safety.

KSU, 0—BOWLING GREEN, 34

The Kent gridders held their sister-college rivals from Bowling Green to seven points for three periods but the visitors staged a track meet finish in the last quarter to score 27 points.

KSU, 0—WESTERN RESERVE, 38

The Flashes didn't do much towards upsetting predictions when they traveled to Cleveland to take a 38-0 drubbing from Western Reserve's powerful Red Cats on Migration Day.

KSU, 6—BALDWIN-WALLACE, 40

Kent stalled the vaunted passing attack of the B-W Yellow Jackets but the running attack functioned only too well and the Jackets scored in every quarter. It was the fourth loss for Kent.

B A S K E T B A L L . . .

Thirteen victories . . . ten defeats . . .

These cold figures don't begin to tell the story of the 1939-40 Golden Flash basketball season. Backers of Head Coach G. Donald Starn's basketball team ran the gauntlet of emotions . . . from exultation and despair to apoplexy. Memories of scoring sprees in which the swish-swish of the net spelled doom for opposing quintets—tight games in which every basket, every foul, seemed deciding factors—capacity crowds, alternately gasping, groaning, and screaming—the shrill sound of the referee's whistle, barely heard above the tumult—the dull boom of the gun, signifying the end of the game—all will remain indelibly impressed in the minds of last season's rooters.

A pair of victories over Western Reserve's highly touted cage artists, and two wins over Baldwin-Wallace's Yellow Jackets were the highlights of the season. These wins were unexpected, and gained sweet revenge for the Flashes, who had suffered humiliating defeats to both schools on the gridiron.

After hanging up four victories in their first five games, the Flashes hit a slump and dropped five of their next six contests. They closed fast, however, losing but four of their remaining twelve skirmishes.

Wayne Griffith led the Kentites in scoring for the second successive year when he split the meshes for 207 points. Max Conner placed second to "Griff" with 131 tallies, and Joe Price, sensational sophomore star, countered 120 markers. Kent tallied 921 points in the gruelling 23-game schedule, while holding its opposition to 889.

1939-40 REVIEW . . .

Flashes off to auspicious start, winning four of first five games . . . only loss was to defending conference champs, Wooster . . . Bluffton, Ashland, Baldwin-Wallace and Ohio Wesleyan all fell before the Starnmen's smooth-working switching man-for-man defense and consistent offense . . . Sophomores Joe Price and Harold Andreas followed up impressive debuts with consistently good performances, and vets Wayne Griffith and Max Conner maintained a torrid pace . . .

A sudden slump plus tough opposition spelled defeat for the Flashes in five of their next six encounters . . . Penn State's Nittany Lions sprang a strange type of basketball to this hotbed of "race horse" tactics when their slow deliberate offense controlled the ball 75% of time . . . the locals staved off a desperate rally to edge Mount Union by a one-point margin . . . fever-pitch excitement which permeated the campus prior to the traditional Akron meeting was cooled when the Zippers were rude hosts, sending the Flashes home muttering "it was a grand fight, mom, but we lost" under their breaths . . . Wittenberg, Muskingum, and Ashland made it four straight losses as Flashes were at lowest ebb of season . . .

Return of Bill Boliantz, Bert Davidian, and Bud LeChaix to harness snapped the Blue and Gold out of their prolonged slump, and they rolled over Alliance and Hiram with no trouble . . . Fenn pulled surprise when they turned locals back, but all was forgiven when Western Reserve went back home on the short end of a 40-36 score . . .

Sweet revenge was had when the Flashes lambasted Akron in a return engagement in the locals own back yard . . . Findlay was taken over the well known hurdles, and a return joust with Mount Union at Alliance resulted in revenge for the Raiders . . . Bowling Green also took the Golden Clad's measure in a close game . . .

The high point of the season came when the Blue and Gold eked out a 61-60 win over Reserve at Adelbert gym . . . the locals overcame a huge Red Cat lead to surge in front, then nearly lost as Reserve scored four points in the last seven seconds . . . back home again, the Flashes led John Carroll for 37 minutes before falling victim to "clutch" shooting of Fred Fanelly . . . Hiram was again a victim, and three seniors, Wayne Griffith, Bert Davidian, and Sheldon Helmick closed their collegiate careers by leading their team to a 30-28 victory over Baldwin-Wallace in the season's finale . . .

Losing only one match, to Kansas State, Big Six conference champions, Coach Joe Begala's crack wrestling team marched through all opposition from four states to hang up another fine record, 11 victories in 12 starts.

After the matmen had beaten all state contenders, including powerful Ohio State, there was little complaint from other schools when Kent claimed the mythical state championship.

Coach Begala used make-shift line-ups for many of the matches and in several cases had regular men wrestling 20-pounds over their assigned weights.

The wrestlers opened the campaign against the freshmen and won, 29-3. However, most of the matches were close and were won by varsity men only because of the experience of the upper-classmen. Duane Hague, smooth Cuyahoga Falls 128-pounder, won the only match for the Frosh.

The old rival, University of Akron, proved a soft touch for the Flashes and was swamped by a team of sophomores assembled by Coach Begala. A week later, the Golden Flash mat team journeyed to Pennsylvania to meet Waynesburg college and again won handily.

With only three days rest, the Flashes met the Kansas State team of champions and were beaten, 15-9, in the outstanding match of the year. Three straight losses in the middle weights caused Kent's downfall. It was the second home loss in seven years for the home squad.

After winning over the Akron YMCA and Findlay college team easily, the Blue and Gold men made the long trek to Columbus to meet the Ohio State Scarlet Scourges. One of the largest wrestling turnouts in years watched the Flashes edge out a 19-13 triumph.

Lynn Sivon, veteran 155-pounder, Leonard Pomeroy, ace 136-pound grappler, and John Wilber, regular 121-pound man, are the only three graduating members of the squad. Pomeroy and Sivon acted as co-captains for this season's team.

Climaxing their tenth successful season while under the tutelage of Joe Begala, the Golden Flash wrestlers added the seventh Interstate wrestling championship in eight years to the already impressive season's record. Kent was the host school for the Interstate tournament March 15-16 but because of spring vacation the meet was moved to the Cleveland Athletic Club.

Earlier in the year, Coach Begala claimed the mythical state championship for his men after the Flashes topped Ohio State.

The eight Kent men won five first places and three second places while rolling up a total of 43 points. This was the largest team total ever scored in the annual tournament. Case School of Applied Science was second with 11 points, barely nosing out Waynesburg college, Pa., by one point. Michigan State was fourth with nine points and Buffalo University, Findlay, Rochester Mechanics, Baldwin-Wallace, and Albert College, N. Y., trailed in that order.

In winning, Kent qualified a complete team for the national collegiate tournament held March 28-29 in Champaign, Ill. Winners and runner-ups in the tournament earned places in the nationals but only two men reported for the latter contest. Injuries kept most of the eligible men on the sidelines.

After winning their first three games of the 1939 baseball season, the Golden Flash diamond nine fell apart in the clutches in later games and a mediocre season resulted.

The home team was alternately hot and cold with many of their losses coming from erratic fielding. Coach John Starrett lost one of his most capable infielders, Bob Whitman, early in the year and was forced to use a make-shift line-up in several games.

Kent opened the year quite impressively, beating Oberlin twice and Heidelberg once in their first three games. Wooster dropped the Flashes 9-3 in a game featured by loose play. Kent reversed the decision later, however, by winning 3-2 in the best-played game of the year. Toledo University inflicted two defeats upon the Blue and Gold men by wide margins. Other wins came at the expense of Ashland and Heidelberg.

Two of the three outstanding hurlers last year are missing this spring. Keith Spriggel, right-hander, graduated, and Jack Tomasheska is now playing professional ball. The season's record shows seven wins and five losses.

T E N N I S . . .

Coach Ray Novotny's 1939 tennis team completed one of the most successful seasons in the seven year history of tennis at Kent State University, finishing the campaign with seven wins against four losses.

The Flashes' four losses came at the hands of the strong Wooster and Hiram outfits. The Scots handed the Kent net-men both defeats by a score of 6-1, while Hiram tagged them with two defeats, the score in each being 5-2. Wins came at the expense of Ashland, Mount Union, Slippery Rock, and John Carroll.

Wrestling Coach Joe Begala started tennis at Kent in 1932 and acted as coach for two years, when Novotny took over. Although the Flashes failed to score in the 1939 Ohio Conference tournament, all matches they played were carried to three sets.

Leslie "Swede" Netzen, versatile senior athlete, practically turned the 1939 track season into a one-man show by accounting for 29 or more points in each dual meet, while competing in seven events.

Netzen led Kent in the three victories over Heidelberg, Hiram, and Baldwin-Wallace, and scored 29 points while the Flashes were losing their only meet of the season to University of Akron, 68-63.

Supplying entertainment for fans during intermission of Golden Flash basketball games is the primary purpose of the university Gym team. Coached by Intramural Director G. J. Altmann, the squad draws many aw's and oh's during its performances at half-time.

INTRAMURALS . . .

The aim of the intramural program of sports is to reach every student in the university whether affiliated or not. Steady growth of the institution has made apparent the need for such a program.

Individual awards are presented at the end of the school year to the fraternity or organization accumulating the highest number of points from all intramural sports.

Beginning with cross-country in the fall and continuing with horseshoes, swimming, basketball, track, gym, fencing and golf, the final results of the program are not determined until completion of the final events in May.

Throughout the school year the intramural program offers the finest form of diversion and recreation.

Because of the variety of sports offered to each student, competition has proven much keener this year.

These seven mask and foils men are part of the large group of Kent students who have taken a great interest in the ancient sport.

These shots show Gene Finks, Akron heavyweight, winning the feature bout of the Courier-Tribune boxing show in December. Finks won a five-round decision over Kent's Lewis DeWeese.

Co-educational gym classes are a regular part of the university curriculum, another field in which KSU has pioneered. Here you see the regular classes of Professors Virginia Harvey and G. J. Altmann playing volleyball.

COUNTRY DANCING . . .

"Swing your partner, follow through,—now's the time to promenade . . . O . . . swing your partner, turn her too . . ."

Barn dancing this year proved to be one of the most popular activities offered by the Department of Health and Physical Education.

With Stubby Sindledecker to call the figures, Kent's square dancers spent many a happy and hilarious evening in Will's Gym clapping to the tune of popular "hill-billy" numbers played by Stubby and his Jolly Four.

Many students learned the various steps in their gym classes while others simply picked them up. Faculty members, too, enjoyed the informality of these farmer affairs.

For the second successive year, George T. Costello, national Red Cross field representative, came to Kent to examine candidates for the rating of water safety instructors.

This year thirty Kent swimmers qualified for the rating after several weeks of intensive training, which consisted of a written test and a water examination, given in the Kent pool March 26, 27, and 28.

Topping the finest season in the short swimming history of Kent, the Golden Flash natators came through in the Ohio Conference swimming meet at Bowling Green to take second place, finishing close behind the nationally-known Kenyon squad.

During the regular season, led by Dale Stewart and powerful-stroking Roman Wojno, the Kent team won 10 victories in 12 starts. Stewart and Wojno, swimming in free-style races, dominated most of the meets.

The powerful Wooster Scots and Oberlin College were the only colleges able to beat the Flashes. Kent gained revenge for the Wooster loss by winning the second meet between the two colleges, 38-37.

Outstanding for the local tankers were Don Johnson, senior diver; Pete Woyar, breast-stroke; Russ Smith, Sam Farkas, and Captain Bruce Kreighbaum.

WOMEN'S SPORTS REVIEW . . .

The year 1939-40 introduced a new program of sports activities for women at Kent. The opportunity for every woman on the campus to take part in one or all of the various sports was offered by the Women's Athletic Association, which invited sororities, dormitories, and clubs to compete for the big Participation Cup to be presented to the organization which piled up the greatest number of points.

The best feature of this program was the fact that the winning team did not have to be the champions of the sport, but was simply required to have the most players out for each activity. Thus, experienced sport enthusiasts and novices alike were encouraged to "come out and have some fun".

The success of this new program can be amply demonstrated by the membership figures which show that over fifty women were initiated by the Women's Athletic Association in March. Many other students, not affiliated with that organization, however, expressed their appreciation of the new program by taking part in the WAA activities throughout the year.

Besides the big Participation Cup, trophies of lesser importance were presented to winners of the various team sports such as soccer, softball, basketball, and volleyball.

Then, not satisfied with these trophies, WAA gave awards to winners of the individual sports which included tennis, badminton, ping pong, darts, and archery.

The Sharks Club formed a Super Sharks Club and invited all women to try out for membership. Those who qualified enjoyed the thrill of swimming in the 1940 National Intercollegiate Telegraphic swimming meet, held between February 15 and March 15.

Among the year's most pleasant surprises was the sudden popularity of the Modern Dance Club. Approximately 80 women attended each meeting, and because of such consistent interest it was possible for the club to put on several recitals, one of the most successful ones being the presentation of the "Pre-Classic Suite" in the music room at Moulton Hall.

At the end of the semester the Women's Athletic Association held their annual awards banquet at which the much publicized Participation Cup was presented to the winning organization.

Chenille letter K's were presented to those of WAA who had earned 250 points and gold pins were given to those who earned 600 points.

In summary it is fair to say that the Women's Athletic Association experienced one of the most successful years of its existence on the campus. The plans for the scheduling of activities which was introduced this year were accepted by Kent women as the basis for one of the strongest programs for women sport enthusiasts that has ever been tried at Kent State University.

Tradition and Activities

CAMPUS NIGHT

In the low light of dusk a blare of trumpets heralds the procession of May Queen candidates, moving toward the high white throne for coronation ceremonies. A hushed silence falls over the large crowd.

The assemblage watches expectantly as the president of Student Council declares the queen and, as she ascends the throne, crowns her with a wreath of flowers. Suddenly, the silence is shattered, and coeds wind the traditional Maypole. Campus Night is now well under way.

With sororities, fraternities, and other organizations ranked according to seniority, the parade forms, and jubilant students follow the multi-colored lamps tracing the parade route which winds from the front campus through the town and back to Wills Gym.

Dancing resumes, to continue on into the evening, concluding for another year all the spirit and colorful pageantry which has made Campus Night a glorious tradition.

*"'Tis a hail to Kent forever,
On the Cuyahoga shores . . ."*

Those same Cuyahoga shores last year were the site of Kent's first "annual" Rowboat Regatta, an event hoped to become a permanent university tradition.

As sponsor of the classic, The Kent Stater was able to arouse enough enthusiasm in the student body to make this first rowboat race a conspicuous success, with fraternities, sororities, dormitories, and independents all entering the contest.

Beginning on the river two miles north of Kent's Main street bridge, the race was followed from the bank of the river by crowds of cheering spectators.

Kent State University's band furnished music along the west bank of the river, while members of the Department of Speech broadcasted the developments from a vantage point on an upper floor of a building to the east of the river.

Sigma Sigma Sigma's entry crossed the finish line first to claim the women's cup, while Sigma Tau Gamma broke the tape first for superiority among the men's entries.

ROWBOAT REGATTA

Politics, a new queen, "Ethan Frome", a "rotten game" and "what a mob" tell the story of this year's Homecoming. Cold northern winds greeted the returning grads but the spirit reflected in meeting the old, as well as the new faces, soon stimulated a warm atmosphere.

The week-end was ushered in by previous campaigning, climaxed by the election of Miss Peg Carper as Homecoming Queen. Presented to the Friday night play audience, Miss Carper welcomed the alumni on behalf of the students.

The play, "Ethan Frome", gave three new faces to the university audience in an excellent portrayal of a somewhat morbid story. Walter Krumm and Elizabeth Gorlich, cast in the leading roles, gave outstanding performances.

Then, on Saturday, Bowling Green outclassed the hapless Flashes with spectacular runs to cop the Homecoming tilt, 34-0.

Gradually, the crowd began to thin, the town resumed its usual way of life, and Homecoming was over for another year.

SHORT COURSE

Under the direction of Prof. A. Clarence Smith, of the School of Journalism, the third annual Short Course in News Photography was held here March 5-9, bringing to the campus news photographers from all over the United States.

Every phase of photography was offered with special attention being focused on aerial photography, news picture value and reader-interest in news pictures.

Visiting dignitaries included Miss Jackie Martin, photographic and art director of the Washington Times Herald, Jack Price, associate editor of Editor and Publisher, and Major Albert W. Stevens, of the army air photographers. Also on the program was Jack Willem, director of research, Stack-Goble Advertising Agency, and Tom Wallace, editor of the Louisville Times.

Highlights of the week's program included lectures and round table discussions, a beginner's course conducted by J. Winton Lemen, of the Eastman Kodak company, a trip to Nela Park, and a symposium on ethics in news pictures, conducted by Dr. Maurice Baum, of the University Department of Philosophy. A special tea was held in honor of Miss Martin.

F U N F E S T

Packed with entertainment and originality, the annual Funfest was held December 18th in the University auditorium, with the Men's Union in charge.

Thirteen organizations, nine of which were Greek, entered the competition for the eight places open on the program.

Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity took first place with a bitter satire, written by Jack Leggett, portraying the spectacle of college friends meeting in the trenches, the hardships they faced; while the Alpha Omega sorority won second place honors with a skit about Santa Claus.

Four Greek and four non-Greek clubs shared places on the program with the nine individual renditions of Clara Biasella, Bob Orpin, Pearl Rongone, Harold Thwaite, George Campbell, David Flynn, a quartet led by Paul Critz, and the Stan Mouse and Bill Guisewite team.

Dean Mary L. Smallwood, Mrs. A. Sellew Roberts, and Dr. H. W. Hudson acted as judges.

. . . fall semester came and with it the Homecoming dance, furnishing plenty of fun for alumni and under-graduates . . . as year progressed other dances were slated, such as the "Club '43", Soph Sweater Swagger, All-Club dance and Junior-Senior Prom. . .

. . . Father Time and Lady New Year danced with students at the 18th annual New Year's Ball in Wills Gym on January 5 . . . WAA Sweetheart dance with King of Hearts chosen on February 16 . . . Akron chapter dance at Akron Mayflower, supporting SUB drive . . . Newman club formal at Congress Lake country club on April 16 . . . "'49-er," informal as everything with beards whiskering around Kent Armory.

Kent State co-eds turned mountain gals and chased the hill-billy men-folks over the campus on Wednesday, November 8, and then dragged their catch to the Sadie Hawkin's Day dance at Wills Barn.

Patterned after the comic strip characters, the 1500 dancers formed in line for the grand march and paraded before guest of Dogpatch, Tony Weitzel, Akron Beacon Journal columnist, while he selected the best dressed students and those of the students attending who were most representative of the characters in the comic. Winners of the contest were Kay Suits as Daisy Mae; Joe Aschauer, Li'l Abner; Agnes Bowles, Sadie Hawkins; Myron Lawrence, Lonesom' Polecat; John Watson, Marryin' Sam; and Howard Resseger, Hairless Joe.

Three gallon jugs of cider were donated for prizes by The Kent Stater, and gifts were furnished by Phi Beta Phi and Alpha Phi Beta fraternities. Ribbons were given by various Greek organizations.

The fifth annual presentation of Handel's Messiah was given before a capacity crowd in the University auditorium Sunday, December 17.

With students, faculty, and citizens of Kent taking part in the presentation, the oratorio was produced by the Department of Music and brought four outstanding New York soloists to the campus.

Corleen Wells, soprano; Ellen Repp, contralto; Arthur Bailey, tenor; and Robert Crawford, bass, blended their voices with a choir of nearly 200 voices, under the direction of Prof. Fred Denker.

The chorus accompaniments were played by the university orchestra.

As in the past, the audience rose to their feet and stood in silence with the singing of the finale, "Hallelujah chorus."

A CAPELLA CHOIR . . .

The A Capella Choir again made KSU proud of its musical program.

Members highlighted their tuneful season with off-campus singing, including Christmas concerts in surrounding towns, and before the American Association of University Women.

Forty voices, singing in unison comprises the choir when singing at university functions, but when singing off-campus, the group includes only thirty-two voices. This year the choir enjoyed the distinction of being presented on the air waves both over station WADC in Akron, and station WTAM in Cleveland.

Garbed in blue robes, A Capella crowned its season's efforts with a spring concert on Sunday, May 5, during Music Week on the campus.

Officers of the choir are: Libby Pliskin, president; Clara Biasella, secretary-treasurer; John Busch, librarian. Prof. Bruce Handley was the director.

Kent State University boasts possession of two fine bands, the concert band and the marching band. The concert band, consisting of 50 members, played for student assemblies and rallies, and presented a special program of popular and classical music. The marching band, a group of 62 students, provided music and cheering at football and basketball games. This year the marching band presented several new formations, among them the "K. S. U." and special formations honoring opposing teams.

Drum Major Norman Uhl was responsible for the excellent marching formations. Prof. Roy D. Metcalf led both organizations.

The university orchestra rose to new heights this year, thrilling the Messiah audience with their fine instrumentation. The 48-piece orchestra was exceptionally capable during performances of "The Firefly" and during the Commencement exercises.

Besides lending important musical background for dramatic productions, the orchestra and band provided opportunities for student musical expression. Student conductors directed both units several times this year at various athletic and social events.

BAND AND ORCHESTRA . . .

MEN'S GLEE CLUB . . .

Set up this year as a definite campus organization with a staff of officers and a constitution, the University Men's Glee Club now boasts a total membership of more than 60 voices—the largest group in its history. Another advancement inaugurated this year is the club's new policy of operating directly through its own administration. 1940 saw the Glee Club taking part in many university activities.

Club records show that the first concert given by a men's glee club here was 11 years ago, in 1929, with 19 members participating. The first full program by the Glee Club took place in 1934, with Prof. Fred Denker directing 25 members. Another program was given by 35 men a year later.

In 1938 Prof. Bruce C. Handley began directing the group, which since that time has averaged a yearly membership of 30 singers. This year, however, renewed interest in tryouts swelled the organization to a total membership of almost double that of any preceding year.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE . . .

Master of the House	Ralph Wands

This year marks the tenth anniversary of the University Theatre.

Membership in the Theatre has grown to almost 500 since it was first organized by Prof. Stump in 1930. During the decade fifty major productions have been presented.

The yearly schedule includes several one-act plays which are given for assembly and outside organizations, and four major productions.

The Theatre enjoys national reputation because of its organization and varied programs. Major productions this year were "Ethan Frome", "Beggar on Horseback", "Firefly", and "Pursuit of Happiness".

University thespians cast aside their costumes and grease paint and forgot about acting for one evening to dance and entertain at the University Theatre's annual winter formal in December.

Unusual decorative effects transformed Wills Gym into a contrast between a modernistic garden under a night sky and a sunset-lit mountain lake. The decorations were part of scenery used by the actors in play productions.

As in other years, the University Theatre members carried on in fine style. No one was left to saunter along the sidelines and all were swung into the dance by the prevailing atmosphere.

Nor were university students the only ones who enjoyed the dance. A half hour broadcast was given over Akron's station WJW. Later in the evening the membership cup was presented to the Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority for selling the most theatre tickets.

Marjorie Thompson, of the Alpha Omega sorority, won the individual award for selling the most tickets, the first year that these awards have been made.

The Duchess, campus humor magazine, is the baby of the University's publications. Those interested in creative writing, art, advertising, photography and other phases of magazine work, have an opportunity to express themselves in its pages. Students from nearly all the departments of the university are found on the staff.

Issued eight times during the college year, each edition of the Duchess has a different theme. An attempt is made to present a complete perspective of campus life. Fraternities, sororities and other university organizations fall into its scope.

Having its inception in 1936, the Duchess has made rapid progress since, enlarging in both size and circulation. Under the magazine's sponsorship a contest was held this year to determine the "Duke of Kent." Dorothy Lamour, glamorous star of radio and screen, acted as judge. Jack Harris, editor and Jules Bogner, business manager, have guided the Duchess to one of its most successful years.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

Members of Student Council: Leland Zahniser, Ed Zink, Paul Hazen, Virginia Frederick, Howard Resseger, Wanda Griffith, Connie Waldo, Louis Cardinal, Bob Cook, Vince McDevitt, Fred Prasse, Robert Stockdale, Dorothy Hostettler, Helen Rothermund, Kay Maloney.

Accomplishments this year included obtaining greater representation on activity controlling committees previously limited to faculty members, and a recommendation for an increase in the student activity fee. The addition to the activity fee was intended to be applied for class dues.

Membership in the Student Council is made up of representatives of all university organizations through central committees.

To foster good-will among fraternities and to cooperate with the administration as a governing body for all Greek letter fraternities are the duties of the Interfraternity Council. Smokers, dances, and banquets numbered among 1940's activities.

Highlight of the season for the council was the annual Interfraternity Banquet, held April 16 at Lowry Hall, and featuring prize cup awards and speakers, as well as the introduction of a new type of educational week to mark the end of initiation for pledges. The new system enables pledges to exhibit organization abilities, valuable as good training to prospective fraternity men.

Officers are: Lester Morato, president; Louis Cardinal, vice-president; Richard Wiland, secretary; Paul Hazen, treasurer.

OPENING - MAY 28TH, 1940
KENT STATE UNIVERSITY'S
"CHESTNUT BURR"
THURMAN ARTZ & ROBERT WILSON - ENGINEERS

Acknowledgment . . .

The editor and business manager wish to express their thanks to the many contributors to the 1940 CHESTNUT BURR, without whose aid its publication would have been impossible. Particularly to President Leebrick, Mr. Renkert, and members of the faculty, do they wish to express their appreciation.

They wish to thank Merrick M. Hill and George Betts, for timely suggestions; Bill Gadd, and the Canton Engraving company, for invaluable assistance and personal enthusiasm; Bob Wilson, and the KingsKraft Cover company, for their help; Judson Rinebold, and the Gray Printing company, for excellent printing; Prof. William Taylor and Prof. A. Clarence Smith, whose guidance proved invaluable, and the Waltz Studios of Canton for their photographs.

To each staff member and innumerable individuals who gave of their time and energies, the editor and business manager wish to extend their appreciation.

We, the business staff would at this time like to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to the advertisers in helping to make this book into, what we feel is a success. The integrated parts are very essential to the success of a thing as a whole.

RITA MELENBACHER—Venus de Milo with arms . . . around Bill Hudec. BILL KENNEDY—says he can drink any girl under the table. How about that, fellas. JEAN IHRIG—is really that way about R-r-russians. BRICK McCARTHY—can play Rach Minanoff in 18th and 19th on Chestnut Street style . . . indifferent to everything but music. JOE (Hollywood-in-the-nude) PRICE—has longest string of nicknames ever borne by one fellow on one campus . . . Isn't that right, Spook? JUNE STERLING—a walking swing session infected by the Jitterbug Bite and an overdose of the Goodman swing section . . . now a hopeless victim of the disease. MAX JOHNSON—one of the most promising prospects of the art department draws his women. WERNER DICKSON—Atlas Jr. JEAN MARIE JOHNSTON—those eyes sure give her Opeal. AUDRIENNE VAN HYNING—sure helps to add the OOmph to "NO Time for Classes." KYLE SMITH—has a Count Basi left hand and an Eddie Duchin right possessed with an Omar Kahyan philosophy. (Here today—gone tomorrow, you dopes). MARJ DAUBENSPECK—a Junior Leaguer stuck at Kent. BETTY LINE—just a "Dick" at heart.

Al's Cottage

ROMI WOYNO—carried the swimming team through. MARCIA JOHNSON—helped carry the swimming team through. SELMA FACTOR—she's one girl who sure takes advantage of Leap Year. JOHN PINKOS—supposed Casanova of the dining hall. (Would that he knew). MARY KAISER—diminutive prexy of Lowry Hall makes up for her size by doing big things. JOE ASCHAUER—Lil Abner in a Half Nelson. PETE SMITH—a specialty in "shorts". BETTY JANE LEADENHAM—Silly symphonies go with Pete Smith specialties. ROGER LEWIS—he and Bergen have one thing in common—McCarthy. DON HUFFMAN—haunts Library . . . Studying??? JIMMY COX—does the convertible make the man? MICKEY DOVER—socially should be called Clarence, in case of another election. WALTER HOLMES—the boy that met the wedge. Eh, Watts? HOWARD RESSEGER—it all depends on the woman. How about that? LENNY OPEIL—must be striving for heaven the way he reaches for it . . . Dance, Lenny. RALPH BRADEN—the boy that's going to wear himself out doing nothing. PAUL MOSHER—a friend of all the Friday gang. It's too bad you can't join us, Paul. JACK LEGGETT—would the Pom room be Peian without Jack? WAYNE SEROY—blond bomb shell of the cheer leaders. HELEN ROTHERMUND—brilliant little red-head in spite of the time she spends with Wayne.
